The US Government should leave Microsoft alone and focus on the issues that really affect Americans and our security - like foreign and domestic terrorists! Why does the govt. have to destroy a great US company? Janet Reno should have spent our tax money on something that benefited the public. Instead, they tried to dismantle a company that provides great products and improves business.

Microsoft is a great company with a product that enhances business. If the competition had a comparable product, people would buy it! Instead they want the govt. to step in and help them try to compete with Microsoft.

Sun Microsystems and the rest of the ilk should be ashamed.
